Table of contents

Foreword 11

Chapter 1
Craft psychology in a nutshell 17

1.1 Summary of the most relevant research-based results 18

Chapter 2
Definitions of and connections between craft and well-being 21

2.1 Crafts 21
2.2 Definitions of craft and hobby 22
2.3 Craft increases the feeling of well-being and prosperity 23
2.4 Craft makes us feel safe – dry*warm*fed* 26
2.5 Scope: Everything craft is and everything that it is not 28

Chapter 3
The Craft Psychology Model 31

THE EFFECTS 32
3.1 FLOW 32
A state of "meaningful self-forgetfulness" 32
Have at least ten projects going on simultaneously 35
3.2 CALMNESS & PRESENCE 35
Coupled Activities 37
3.3 POSITIVE EMOTIONS 39
Delighting in the everyday 39
3.4 ACHIEVEMENT 40
Making an impact – producing something meaningful 40
3.5 CAPACITY 44
Cognitive resilience and the joy of improving 44

3.6 THE MEMBRANE:. 44
PASSION an important form of well-being 44
3.7 The three prerequisites for well-being in relation to craft . . . 47
Competence 47
Social Relatedness 49
Autonomy 50

Chapter 4
Central Research Findings in Craft Psychology 53

Reading guide: References:. 53
4.1 Stress. 54
Craft can be used intentionally against symptoms of stress 54
The Relaxation Response 55
4.2 Anxiety and depression 59
4.3 Mental illnesses: eating disorders, compulsive behaviours, and substance abuse 63
4.4 Pain 65
4.5 Craft enhances muscular mobility. 67
4.6 ADHD 68
Case on Sofie with ADHD 69
4.7 Loneliness 71
4.8 Dementia 73
Craft slows down early onset dementia 73
Craft stimulates neuroplasticity 74

Chapter 5
Methods and exercises 79

Exercises against stress, depression, and anxiety 81
Step one: Mindful craft 81
Step two: Conscious stimulation of the upper edge of flow 83
Step three: Increased self-awareness and multiple projects simultaneously. 85
Use craft consciously to prevent stress and thereby depression, anxiety, and psychological distress. 86

Chapter 6
Four ways to craft 91
Craft axis model: Four ways to craft 92

Chapter 7
Graduation and Interventions 95
Practical planning of craft activities 95
High structure for those affected by stress 95
The six graduation elements 96
1 Structure can be high or low 96
2 Time (craft interventions require thorough preparation). 98
3 Materials are chosen carefully 98
4 Skills are assessed individually. 98
5 Motivation starts where something makes sense. 99
6 Cultural awareness sheds light on invisible challenges 100
Craft Practitioner Template – graduation with a purpose 101

Chapter 8
From Utility to Passion: The Role of Crafts Now and Through History. 103
8.1 Craft Gains Higher Esteem 104
8.2 Purpose of craft. 106
The craft purposes enneagon 107
The nine different purposes 107
1. Functionality. 107
2. Aesthetics 109
3. Health Promotion. 110
4. Relatedness 111
5. Expressivity. 112
6. Cultural Preservation 113
7. Sustainability 113
8. Sensory Stimulation 113
9 Materiality. 114

Chapter 9
Theoretical Foundation of Craft Psychology 117
9.1 Positive emotions – Barbara Fredrickson 117
9.2 Self-Determination Theory – Deci & Ryan 124
Three basic needs 125
Competence – self-perceived 126
Social Relatedness- Meaningful Community. 127
Autonomy enables intrinsic motivation 128
More well-being when motivation comes from within 130
9.3 Flow – Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi 133
Flow Conditions and Dimensions 136
Six Conditions that Promote Flow. 137
The biochemical explanation for addiction to craft 139
The difference between flow and mindfulness 140
9.4 Mindfulness – Jon Kabat-Zinn. 142
Mindful craft 145
9.5 Neurology 147
The Sympathetic Nervous System:. 147
The Parasympathetic Nervous System:. 147
Default Mode Network – why doing nothing is not relaxing. . . . 150
9.6 Effectuation – Saras D. Sarasvathy 153
Next Best Step 155
9.7 System 1 and 2 – Daniel Kahneman. 156
System 1 (fast thinking) 158
System 2 (slow thinking) 158
9.8 Self-efficacy – Bandura 160

Chapter 10
Brief Summary: 165
Three recommendations 166
Avoid contaminating your passion with shame and boredom; say no to duty-projects.. 166
Have at least 10 projects concurrently and do other than coupled activities. 167

Engage in crafting for a minimum of half to one hour per day – focus on what brings you well-being.. 167

Postscript: 169

Bibliography 171

Index. 199